The 1952 Democratic Primary

Read about the 1952 primary and specifically, the Democratic primary in 1952, then answer the questions.

1. New Hampshire’s primary day was first in the nation even before 1952. Why?
   The state wanted to save money by having town meeting day and the primary on the same day. They had to make the primary sooner to match the town meeting.

2. What changed in 1952 that made the primary different?
   People could vote directly for their candidate. In the past they had voted for delegates that then voted for the candidate. People felt their vote counted more than before.

3. Who were the front-runners in 1952?
   Democrats: President Harry Truman
   Republicans: Senator Robert Taft

4. Who was President Truman’s competitor?
   Senator Estes Kefauver

5. List three facts about the Democratic presidential primary.

   Possible Responses:
   • Kefauver thought that if he won in New Hampshire, he could extend that over the country.
   • He spent months in New Hampshire before the primary using retail politics.
   • He wore a coonskin cap and even rode in sleds to meet people.
   • Truman did not go to New Hampshire.
