DRAW YOUR OWN COMIC: HUTCHINSON FAMILY SINGERS

The Hutchinson Family Singers was a popular singing group in the 1840s and 1850s. They liked to sing about patriotism and often sang songs that protested slavery. In the mid-1840s, they began to travel around the northern states to showcase these songs in concerts.

Imagine you are a member of this group and you are about to go a singing tour. Draw a comic strip about what you experience along the way. What places do you visit? Where do you stay? Do you always get along with your fellow group members?
